

LEGISLATURE CALLED IN PROBE

WOMAN HEARD IN MURDER

SUMMONS 1918-1919 MEMBERS

Every Legislator Affected by "L" Inquiry to Get Chance to Testify

Every member of the legislatures of 1918 and 1919 will be summoned to appear before the Griswold Special Committee investigating charges of corruption, stock gambling and grafting in connection with the passage of street railway legislation at those sessions of the General Court.

It was announced today by Senator Griswold, chairman of the committee, immediately following resumption of the day's session, which had been interrupted in an effort to find former Representative John L. Donovan, summoned to appear before the committee, but who cannot be traced by the sergeant-at-large of the Legislature.

Chairman Griswold said that inasmuch as the charges affect the good name and reputation of every man who was a member of the Legislature in 1918 or 1919, it is the duty of the Legislature to clear the record.

The chairman then personally asked if any member of the Legislature of those years was in the committee room, and from among the dozen crowded that packed the apartment and expressed their willingness to be sworn and testify. There were Representative Julian Mayors of Cambridge, Harry C. Willard, Belmont; George J. Baker, Salem; George J. Bennett, Webster; Arthur W. Jones, continued on Page 16, Column 2.

Three Chicago Gunmen Hanged Together

By International News Service. Chicago, April 15.—Sam Cardella, gang leader, who planned and later personally executed scores of crimes, according to the police, and Sam Ferrara and Joseph Costanzo, "wild-cat" men, who killed during the robbery of a bakery, were hanged in the county jail today.

The three went to their deaths at the same time and from the same scaffold. It was the first instance in the history of Cook County of three men being hanged at the same time.

'FAR EAST' ASKS RECOGNITION

New Russian Republic Includes So-Called Vandalia Concessions

By International News Service. Washington, April 15.—A note couched in language slightly more militant than is usually employed in diplomatic exchanges, the Far Eastern republic has requested formal recognition by the United States. It was learned at the State Department today.

The communication sets forth that the republic, popularly known as the "Far East," is a new state, born of the Pacific Ocean and the northern portion of the Russian Empire.

As an interesting point in this connection is that it is the reported Vandalia concessions lie within the boundaries of the new republic.

The Far Easterners have their demands for the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Far Eastern territory and for independence, at least, hold the United States responsible for their continued presence.

LEAKING STEAMER RACES INTO PORT WITH SUGAR

In a leaky condition and with pumps going full blast to prevent the water from reaching her cargo of sugar, the American steamer Mariner Harbor sped into the harbor from Manila, Cuba, about developed several days ago and the steam pumps put into action at once, according to the ship's log.

The steamer, which is owned by the Sugar Sugar Refining Company, was wrecked in Charleston, where, this morning, the sugar discharge cut wages of 25,000 bags of sugar.

CUT WAGES OF WORKERS IN NEWPORT GARDENS

Newport, R. I., April 15.—Many of the Newport cottagers are offering their gardeners three dollars a day this year instead of four which was the price asked last year. There is no far to strike over the reduction in wages. The cottage owners declare three dollars is all they will pay.

Big British Walkout to Back Miners' Strike Is Averted

No International News Service. London, April 15.—The Triple Alliance at 4 o'clock this afternoon cancelled its order for a general strike set for 10 o'clock tonight.

Only a few minutes before Premier Lloyd George had announced in the House of Commons that the miners were uncompromising in their stand.

The general strike was consequently believed absolutely inevitable. The government set its machinery in motion to alleviate the suffering and possibly civil war that was to be reckoned with in the wake of the strike.

Then into the universal gloom that befell the capital, as word of the Premier's announcement spread with lightning-like swiftness, came the dramatic announcement by Thomas Paine to explain.

The rail men's leader gave no explanation. The public, flung for sixteen days from joyous relief to desperate alarm, and back to high hopes, was dumfounded.

The general first view was that this was a serious rift in the unity of the Triple Alliance which had brought about such a change of front.

The Premier, amid cheers, had said that the Triple Alliance had been brought about such a change of front.

Then he had said the miners' answer, which he described as "A most important communication." In it the miners had told him that the only conditions upon which even a temporary settlement could be reached were:

1.—Continuation to a national wage system.

2.—A national pooling of war profits.

Both these conditions had been repeatedly turned down flatly by both sides.

Even the most sanguine optimism seemed resigned to the inevitable.

At the same time the government departmental machinery had clicked into strike gear. All government work was to be stopped.

Over the great hall of the House of Commons, the speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. Speaker, said that the government was determined to carry out its duty.

Big Explosion in Randolph

Fireworks Factory Blows Up, Hurting Scores, Damaging Hundreds of Houses

Several hundred Randolph houses were slightly damaged, scores of people were thrown from their beds and a slight injury and hundreds were struck with panic, early today, by an explosion which wrecked the plant of the United States Fireworks Company, on Mill Street, Randolph.

The explosion, there being at least four, could be distinctly heard in Boston, fifteen miles away, and were felt within a radius of ten miles.

The fire department, of Weymouth, which was alerted by the explosion, reached the plant, the first wooden frame structures of the plant were a seething mass of flames.

Other towns were alarmed. No one was seriously injured.

STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Important new evidence with which the police expect to batter down the alibi of the principal woman suspect in the Preston murder tragedy was discovered today.

This "mystery woman," alleged companion of Clarence W. Loud, when, the State charges, he shot and killed Patrolman James A. Preston, will shortly be subjected to the most thorough grilling she has yet undergone.

The new evidence makes it certain that the woman boarded a street car in the vicinity of the murder last Saturday night about 9:32 o'clock.

It makes it certain that she left the car at Highland Avenue and Main Street, a good ten-minute walk from Loud's home and the home of the woman who has been most persistently mentioned in the case.

It will do much, in the opinion of the police, to take away the significance of the fact that she was in her home shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday night, while Loud did not reach home until more than a half hour later, and her consequent statement that she could not have been his companion in the "murder case."

Charles M. Butterfield, conductor of the car at Franklin and Main streets, said that the woman was seen in the car at Franklin and Main streets, and that she was seen in the car at Franklin and Main streets, and that she was seen in the car at Franklin and Main streets.

Miss Annie Fitzpatrick of Cambridge will be compelled to give up all idea of marrying Crawford Deane of Cambridge or sacrifice the income on $250,000, by the terms of the will of her father, the late Francis X. Fitzpatrick, prominent Cambridge real estate man.

Friends of the Fitzpatricks were astonished today by the peculiar nature of the will, made public when it was filed for probate at East Cambridge.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, one of the best known business men in Cambridge, died March 4, leaving an estate of more than $1,000,000.

After a few minor bequests, he left the bulk of this fortune to his two children, James M. and Annie.

In that section of the will leaving the interest on one-half the fortune to his daughter, he expressly stipulated against a marriage between her and Deane.

It said in the will that he wished in "vast no reductions whatever" on Deane, but did not give a clue as to the reason for his objection to a marriage between the man and his daughter.

PANORAMA OF TERRITORY WHERE 'MURDER CAR' WAS LEFT

The above panorama, made by a Boston American photographer, visualizes the deserted section on the Wakefield-Saugus Line, where Clarence W. Loud's sedan car was discovered after the murder of Patrolman Preston, on Lowell street, Wakefield. The police claim that Loud, after killing Preston, fled from the scene of the murder, accompanied by a woman, and drove through Vernon, Water and Farm streets into Nahant street, turning off the road into the open lot and deserting machine, as illustration portrays. The police claim that Loud could have walked from the spot where he is alleged to have abandoned his car after fleeing the murder scene and reached home at 10:45, the time Loud claims he entered his residence. The dotted line in the panorama shows the probable course taken by the occupants of the car. The location of Half Moon Pond, which Loud is supposed to have passed and into which the police are inclined to believe he threw the fatal gun, is clearly defined in the illustration. At extreme right is shown the home of William G. Habitz, partially screened by small trees. Habitz is an important State witness. He claims that while walking home the night of the murder and a short time after its perpetration, a sedan machine passed him at a high rate of speed, going in the direction of the spot where the car was abandoned. This observation later led to his recovery of the machine for the Wakefield police.

ATONIST SAYS HE TALKED TO LOUD NEAR CRIME SCENE

The suspect was identified by several witnesses, to have been unfair.

They declared the suspect was the only man in the line-up who was in civilian clothes, and that he wore the gray suit which was well known to all newspaper readers from the photographs.

ALIBI SHATTERED.

Testimony voluntarily furnished within the past twenty-four hours by new witnesses to be heard was strongly implicated a married woman in the crime who has been under suspicion from the onset and shattered this woman's alibi.

The identity of two of the four persons who claim they saw Loud in his sedan machine near Lowell street and a short distance from Hebe Lane the night of the murder, accompanied by a woman, was revealed today.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Luscombe of No. 12 Westley street, Somerville, and a man and woman who accompanied them identified Loud as the man who offered to assist Luscombe when his machine broke down, near the crime scene.

Although District Attorney Tuffe refused to discuss the visit of the four witnesses on his office, it is understood that Luscombe was driving with friends when his machine stopped, and was accompanied by a man and woman approached. Luscombe bailed the machine and asked assistance.

NEW WOMAN IN CAR.

The driver of the sedan offered to take Luscombe to a garage, where he would get a mechanic. Luscombe accompanied the man, whom he now identifies as Loud, and had a good look at the woman in the sedan, providing the authorities with a good description of her. The other members of Luscombe's party were provided with a good opportunity of viewing the man and woman in the sedan, during the conversation at the side of Luscombe's machine. They agreed that the driver of the sedan was Loud.

The identity of the two new women, witnesses reported to have provided startling new evidence has been kept a secret by the Wakefield and State police under instructions of District Attorney Tuffe, who told the newspapers that he felt it might injure the government's case if their names were disclosed at this time.

District Attorney Tuffe stated that the description of the woman who was in Loud's company Saturday night, as furnished by new witnesses dovetailed with other information they had received and made the

Weak Links in Case of the State Against Loud

What are the weak links in the chain of evidence the State has drawn about Clarence W. Loud, accused of the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston? Nearly a week has elapsed since Patrolman Preston was slain in the darkness of Lowell street, North Wakefield. Loud still stoutly maintains his innocence. He still sticks to his bandit story. His friends are loyal to him. They say they will not be satisfied of his guilt until investigators have thrown light on the following:

WHERE is the "mystery woman" in the case? WHERE is the gun with which the killing was accomplished, and the watch and chain and other personal property Loud says was stolen from him by the bandits?

WHY should Clarence Loud, if he killed Patrolman Preston, drive away leaving in the slain officer's notebook his own name and the name of a woman, together with his former address in Somerville?

WHY should Loud have engaged to deliver an antique mirror to John Hardman of Lynnfield Centre Saturday night if it was his intention to keep a clandestine appointment with a woman? WHAT caused the marks on Loud's head and face if his bandit story is untrue?

WHAT would have been Loud's object in giving as the address of the counterfeit "Alice Dennett" his own former Somerville address?

WHO were the two men seen by Edward Seabury talking with Patrolman Preston beside an automobile a short time before he was shot?

WHO was the man in the light overcoat seen by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pauley standing behind a tree in Lowell street Saturday night?

trophy for two years. One of these revolvers was found at his home on Stratford road, Melrose. The other has been unable to account for, other than to have admitted, the police allege, that he always carried it loaded in the flap of his sedan car where it was on Saturday night when he started for the home of John Hardman in Lynnfield Centre with an antique mirror which, Hardman said, he might buy from him.

This revolver is now missing. The search for it has caused the police to Undertaker Butler also denied that the body had been placed in a tomb in St. Patrick's cemetery instead of a grave and that it had been removed to Cambridge for a second autopsy.

It appears that the first shot fired struck Preston in the mouth while he was about to step on the running board of the Ford sedan. There is every indication, that he came upon

NEW EVIDENCE STRENGTHENS CASE AGAINST LOUD

The occupants of the car in Boston where he took his notes, ordered the driver to back out to Lowell street and then to proceed to the station house, when the first of this fatal volley of shots was fired. Preston is thought instinctively to have raised his right hand to shield himself. The close range of the shot shot at such a close quarter and from such a heavy revolver is thought to have knocked him down.

It is thought that the driver of the car in a fury jumped out and fired two more shots at least, into the prostrate form of his victim. It is possible that one shot, fired from within the sedan, may have been muffled and this accounted for the fact that only three shots, fired in the open, were heard by Libby, William Luther, the station master, and other witnesses.

Rockland, Me., April 15.—Release of John Koskinen of East Warren, who was alleged to have murdered his father, Joseph Koskinen, on April 1, has deepened the mystery surrounding the death of the milk pedlar.

State authorities, spurred on by an urgent public demand, are determined to fix the blame for the crime, but clews so far have led them to blind alleys. The son was released in Municipal Court here after an all-day hearing, which Judge Frank H. Miller, who presided over the hearing, declared the defense had established an alibi for the accused man. They had accounts for young Keskinen's time, he said, except for ten minutes, during which the crime could not have been committed and the body disposed of by dragging it 1,000 feet and banging it to a tree.

The son's discharge was greeted with applause.

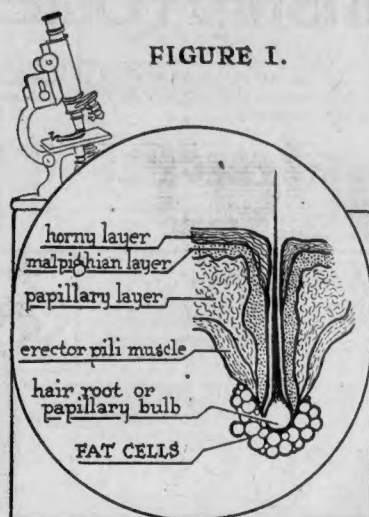

FIGURE I.

How Hair Grows on a Healthy Scalp

The scalp is composed of three layers, the outer horny layer, the malpighian layer and the papillary layer, through which runs the hair follicle. At the base of the follicle is the hair bulb or root, from which grows the hair. On a healthy scalp, the hair bulb is full and well-nourished by the fat cells which are clustered around it. If the system is able to furnish the proper nourishment through the fat cells to the hair root, the hair thrives and continues to grow.

A Scalp Improperly Nourished

Note how the hair is off the root or papillary bulb, which itself is shrunken and unfruitful. This condition is due to the fact that the fat cells which are placed by nature at the base of the hair follicle have been permitted to die (for want of nourishment by the body). The result is that the hair is held only mechanically in place by the follicle or hair-shaft and a slight pull causes it to fall out. This scalp needs ARTIFICIAL FAT CELLS to revive the dormant hair root.

WHY FEROND'S (MILNSHAW) HAIR GROWER Will ~

Re-grow Hair
Stop Falling Hair
Heal Scalp Sores
Eliminate Dandruff

FIGURE III

How Ferond's Penetrates the Scalp of a Bald Head.

In Cases of Total Baldness

Where the hair to grow, the hair bulb or "root" shrinks and the fat cells have died, the action of Ferond's is as follows: When well rubbed in, the fluid forms globules of fat, which will, by their own gravity descend to the base of the hair follicle, forming artificial fat cells around the dormant hair bulb or root, which by the nourishment of nutrients from the FEROND fat cells is revived, forming a new hairy substance which eventually develops into a viable outer hair.

Your Bodily Condition Effects the Health of Your Scalp

All illnesses, especially influenza, scarlet and typhoid fever, have a reaction upon the scalp, causing it to become dry and unfruitful, and in many instances producing a condition that results in all or most of the hairs falling out. The reason for this is plain. The weakened system does not function properly to produce the necessary chemicals, notably sulphur and a substance called "keratin" that promote healthy hair growth. The productive energy of the hair roots is thus lessened to an extent that all or most of the hair falls out.

In a lesser degree, nervousness, a generally run-down condition, advancing age and other infirmities all tend to divert from the scalp the proper nourishment necessary to its health. The result is that the fat cells normally clustered around the hair root become dried up and fail to "feed" the bulb or "root," which in turn, loses its productive energy, but not permanently. Figure 1 illustrates how a healthy scalp functions. Figure 2 shows how a starved hair bulb releases a hair after it can no longer nourish it.

Scalp Sickness Is Communicable

Many cases of alopecia areata (patchy baldness) falling hair and premature baldness are caused by careless use of public combs and brushes. Germs enter the hair follicles and descend to the base, where they feed upon the fat cells placed there by nature, to nourish the bulb or "root." If the parasite which steals the nourishment from the hair bulb is not destroyed, the fat cells cannot function normally and baldness is the eventual result.

to demonstrate as clearly and interestingly as possible.

It is generally known that at certain periods of the year even a healthy scalp will lose many hairs, these hairs being pushed out of their follicles by the new hairs growing from the same hair bulb or "root." This proves conclusively that the bulb is capable of producing more than one hair and that it is not dead as is generally believed, after the hair which grows from it falls out.

The Remedy

The ideal remedy then, would be a powerful, penetrative substance which first descends to the base of the hair follicles and destroys the parasites if any are present, then supplies to the hair bulb the nourishment which nature is unable to furnish. This, in short, is what Ferond's (Milnsaw) Hair Grower will do.

Aiding and RE-PLACING Nature's Methods

Thirty years of experience and experiment have developed in Ferond's (Milnsaw) Hair Grower a potent aid to nature in both saving a sick crop of hair, in destroying all unhealthy scalp conditions and in re-growing new hair. So scientifically and so accurately are the different secret elements combined in Ferond's (Milnsaw) Hair Grower that the semi-viscid substance, when properly applied, forms artificial fat cells around the hair bulb and brings new life to the scalp. Figure 3 illustrates how Ferond's Hair Grower penetrates to the hair follicle and aids nature in refertilizing the root.

Letters, affidavits, photographs and hundreds of thousands of living, talking testimonials vouch for the merit of Ferond's Hair Grower as a real discovery in the realms of dermatological science.

Furthermore,

I will pay to any one a hundred times the amount expended if it can be proven that Ferond's (Milnsaw) Hair Grower does not produce new hair on the scalp within six months to one year.

AMERICANS TO STUDY IN PARIS

Conservatory of Music for Pupils From This Country in Historic Palace

By International News Service.
New York, April 13.—Foundation of an American conservatory of music in France has been accomplished. It was announced here today by Mrs. George Montgomery Tattle, chairman of the American committee of the Summer school of music in the Palace of Fontainebleau, France.

The historic French palace in which Marie Antoinette fled for safety from the Paris mob, has been tendered the American committee by M. Prignaud, at the request of the French government through the good offices of M. Jean Berard, French Minister of Public Instruction and Fine Arts, Mrs. Tattle announced.

The city of Fontainebleau has voted 100,000 francs to help defray the initial costs of the undertaking. Two hundred and fifty American students of music, or teachers of music, will be sent to Fontainebleau each Summer to receive instruction from the greatest living musicians and from the staff of the Paris Conservatory. Selection of the students and teachers in this country will be on a pro rata basis of the States.

The school will open this year on July 1 and close October 1. A prize de Paris will be awarded to the American scholar at the close of the semester. It will entitle the winner to a full year at the Paris Conservatory.

The Palace of Fontainebleau will be used to house all the American women using one wing and men the other. The cost of instruction will be $47, and lodging, $15. Candidates may make application direct to the American committee at 121 East Fifty-eighth street, New York.

Girl Is Marionette Star

Modeline Brown, one of the Greenwich Village artist students who will assist Tony Sarg in operating his marionettes all next week at Steiner Hall, beginning Monday.

The strangest dramatic entertainment in the world is Tony Sarg's Marionettes show which will celebrate its second season at Steiner Hall next Monday for an entire week. Sarg's Marionettes are a troupe of wooden and steel puppets who perform entire plays. They are a development of the Punch and Judy show of our childhood, but developed in a point where there is no further resemblance.

These performing dolls can express emotion, act, dance, and otherwise imitate living actors in a most marvellous fashion. The action of their performance is due, of course, to the skill of Mr. Sarg's operators, who are all Greenwich Village artists and students and who have taken up the strange occupation of moving performing dolls with great ease.

GRAHAM DIVORCE HARD FOUGHT

Many Counter Charges Filed Before Decree Was Granted on Coast

San Francisco, Cal., April 15.—Admitted that she was made public foray in connection with the divorce of Mrs. Lee Eleanor Graham, international beauty and social leader, and William Miller Graham, wealthy Oklahoma man.

Widepread interest attaches to the case because Mrs. Graham is equally well known in Newport, New York, and London, and because of the recent breaking of the engagement of her daughter, Geraldine, with Whitely Warren, Jr., of New York, son of the famous American architect who is now engaged in rebuilding the devastated universities of Belgium.

Although the entire social set of the Pacific Coast was surprised by the announcement of the divorce, it was obtained by Mrs. Graham on January 23 last before Judge Owen in the District Court of Tulsa, Okla.

The divorce was granted the same day the petition was filed. She charged desertion, and although the husband filed a cross petition, alleging that it was she who deserted him, she obtained the divorce after the presentation of very little testimony by either side.

In her petition Mrs. Graham said that she and Graham were married in Pittsburgh, Pa., August 18, 1913, and that two children were born of the union, William B. Graham, twenty-four years old, and Geraldine Graham.

HURRIED TRIP BY SUMMERLIN

U. S. Envoy to Mexico Called Home on Orders of Secretary Hughes

Mexico City, April 15.—George T. Summerlin, American chargé d'affaires here, has left for Washington on orders of Secretary of State Hughes, presumably to discuss the Mexican situation.

Before his departure he had a long conference with President Obregon. Neither would reveal the purpose of the meeting.

There has been a tone of great optimism in official circles during the past forty-eight hours, some going so far as to predict recognition by the United States before May 1 because of recent declarations of President Obregon.

Summerlin, it is said, will return to Mexico City after his conference with the Secretary of State, notwithstanding previous reports that he would be assigned as minister to Uruguay. During his stay in Washington, Mr. E. H. Smith, first secretary, will be in charge of the embassy here.

SPURNED SUITOR KILLS BEAUTY

Wealthy Farmer Shoots Girl on Whom He Lavished a Fortune of $50,000

Atlanta, Ga., April 15.—The alleged illicit love affair of Fred Hall, wealthy Alabama farmer, with beautiful Martha Henderson, ended in tragedy today when the girl was shot through the heart by her lover. The killing took place in Hall's office in the little town of Russellville, whither Miss Henderson had followed him from Atlanta.

It is said that Hall, who is married and has three children, became infatuated with Miss Henderson, whose home was in Dallas, Texas, two years ago, and that since that time he has spent much of his time with her in Atlanta, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Washington and other cities.

During the two years, it is said, Hall spent more than $50,000, and so regretted his affairs that he is on the verge of bankruptcy.

While the pair were living together recently on fashionable Pence De Leon avenue here, their actions aroused suspicion. They avoided trouble temporarily by moving to a hotel, but later were arrested. Hall was charged with violation of the Mann law, and Miss Henderson was held as the chief witness against him on the "white slave" charges.

Both were at liberty under bond, and Hall went back to Russellville. The girl followed him there today, and as she entered the door of his office he drew a revolver and shot her.

VIVIANI FAILS TO WIN OVER U. S.

Tried in Vain to Persuade America to Enter the League

By International News Service.
Washington, April 15.—This week's events in Washington led inevitably to the conclusion today that the mission of the Italian ambassador, Count Visconti Venosta, to the United States, has been a complete failure.

Count Venosta, an Italian Statesman naturally to "pay France's respects" to the new administration. What he really came for was outlined in the series of private discussions which he held with officials of the new administration and in a formal meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. His mission, as thus outlined, embraced three objectives:

1.—To persuade the United States, if possible, to enter the League of Nations.
2.—To prevent the passage of the Knox resolution declaring an end to the state of war between the United States and Germany.
3.—To obtain the support of the United States in forcing upon Germany the reparations settlement.

Count Venosta, in his opening address to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, agreed upon by the allied premiers in Paris and London.

DISPOSED OF BY HARDING.

President Harding easily disposed of the first two propositions in his message to Congress on Tuesday. He informed Mr. Visconti and the world that the United States could never become a member of the existing League of Nations and he advised the passage of the Knox resolution without that famous Berlin 4, which was the only thing that made it palatable to the French. That Berlin 4 would have put the United States on record as endorsing itself with future European quarrels, which was exactly what President Harding wanted.

When the purpose of Berlin 4 was explained to Mr. Visconti in one of the discussions with administration leaders, the youngest Frenchman with a characteristic gesture exclaimed: "C'est! It is as good as the League of Nations."

REPARATIONS ISSUE.

The third point of Mr. Visconti's mission—obtaining American support in the reparations—has been a partial failure. The ex-premier frankly stated the administration's position and flatly refused the reparations settlement upon the basis of the German estimate of approximately $100,000,000 and a 1 1/2 per cent. tax on her exports. This the Harding administration has declined to do. President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes have confined themselves to a statement that Germany is morally responsible for the war and must pay just reparations.

REMARKS TO SENATE.

Count Venosta, in his opening address to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, agreed upon by the allied premiers in Paris and London. The first result of Mr. Visconti's failure to secure more ardent support from the United States was seen by officials today in the tone of the French answer to Secretary Hughes' note on the island of Yap and other matters. This note officials characterized today as "gratifying" and "highly satisfactory."

While France did not openly take sides with America against Japan in the Yap controversy, officials in Premier Briand's office to renew the matter before the next meeting of the allied supreme council, a last admission, at least, that the American position is one of soundness and fairness.

France is more keenly desirous of American sympathy and support than she is of Japan's. In the opinion of diplomats in Washington, France can be counted on to support the American position that Germany must be considered in the disposition of the profits of victory.

Two Little Blind Girls Wellesley Vets Hardings' Guests

Washington, April 15.—Two blind orphan girls were guests of President and Mrs. Harding at the White House today. They are Jennie Williams and Veronica E. Mazicka, both skilled workers at the "Lighthouse" of the New York Association of the Blind in New York.

Jennie gave the President a surprise of "Harding Blue." While at the White House the girls secured the President's endorsement of the $20,000 drive just launched by the committee of lightness for the blind. The President consented to have his name used as patron of the committee.

During their visit to the White House the two blind girls made a most "lightening" trip around the capital and appeared thrilled at the descriptions of the public buildings made by their chaperon, Mrs. Mary Boyle of New York.

"We are listening hard so as to remember it all," said Veronica. "It seems as if it was only a dream, that we shall never forget."

3 BREAKS IN VERMONT TOWN BY AUTO GANG

Brattleboro, Vt., April 15.—Several burglars in a high powered automobile entered this town early today and broke into the Central Vermont Railway station, the town postoffice, and at the store of F. BUILDING WORK RESUMED HERE

Police Prepared for Trouble
Following Employers' Drastic Action

Extra police were on hand today when members of the Building Employers' Association, following the advice of their board of directors, resumed work on all building operations in Boston and vicinity, tied up since January 13 by a strike of the building tradesmen. The 10-cent-an-hour rule will be strictly enforced, members being forbidden to make any agreements with any labor union for the remainder of the year.

Picket details of patrolmen are being held in readiness at each station and arrangements have been made to rush traffic officers, mounted and foot, to any point where trouble occurs.

The council's announcement officially ends all negotiations with the Building Trades Council. It is generally admitted, although no mention is made of the "open shop" Union leaders predict one of the most bitter wars in the history of the building industry if the indicated open shop pick is put into effect.

Actress in Love Row Over Peggy Hopkins

Paris, April 15.—Peggy Hopkins, who has again sprung into prominence owing to the divorce action of her millionaire husband, James Stanley Joyce, was the centre of attraction at Deauville last August. At the resort she is reported to have originated the "Beauty Window," a complete bathing suit, and danced frequently with Marlene.

Peggy is alleged to have caused a violent quarrel between her hotelier and Jacqueline Campbell when she visited the latter's apartment by sleeping late in a casino gambling saloon.

Following the Deauville incident, Campbell was seen on the beach with Peggy, taking her an occasion to the Journal office where she showed her the machinery. Award both went to Marlene where they became ill.

It is now reported that the famous episode in the Claridge in January, when she was seen, a scene favorite, played Jacques, breaking her pearl necklace, as caused by jealousy over Leda.

Leda, however, upon visiting a wire from Universal news informing him of the Joyce at wired his secretary in Paris to cable his ending on.

O'CALLAGHAN TO FILE APPEAL

Cork Mayor Will Argue Deportation as Refugee is Illogical

Washington, April 15.—Appeal against the recent order of Secretary of Labor Davis that Donald O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, must leave the country within sixty days after the date of the order, will be made to Secretary of State Hughes by attorneys for Mayor O'Callaghan.

The appeal petition will not forth that the decision of the Secretary that Mayor O'Callaghan is not a political refugee is illogical and at variance with the traditions of the United States; also that it raises a point not heretofore raised before the Secretary of Labor Wilson or Secretary of State Coffey.

It will point out that the contention of Secretary Davis that Great Britain is not pursuing O'Callaghan by demanding his extradition, ignores the fact that frequently in wars and revolutions foreigners have sought refuge on American soil, and that, though not pursued, and given the right of asylum of political refugees, it will claim that O'Callaghan is a political refugee in fact, although not formally so declared by the British government.

Irish sympathizers are especially concerned over the case of Mayor O'Callaghan, because they believe if the order of Secretary Davis is carried out without protest it will result a precedent by which all who come to play the game of oppression on American soil may be deported.

Haverhill Man Saved FROM DROWNING IN POND

March 15, 18—After sinking twice, Edward Magee, foreman for the water works, was rescued from drowning in Johnson's Pond by Charles Cusack, who jumped into the water and held Magee above the surface while workmen pushed a plank into the water and pulled Magee out.

Magee was in charge of a gang of men pulling brushwood on the shores of the pond. He slipped and was engulfed at 10 o'clock on the shore, which was well over his head. He lay on his rubber boots and three quick-filled with water, making swimming impossible.

Surplus Supply Vendors Held in 1,000 Bonds
Nashua, N.H., April 15.—George MacFarquhar of Nashua and Fred L. W. Ball, alias Kerrigan, of Boston, were held in $1,000 in District Court for trial next Wednesday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to charges of receiving stolen goods.

The men, claiming to represent a Boston concern, were taking orders for army and navy surplus supplies and demanding a 50 per cent advance, but police investigation failed to reveal the Boston address they gave. They are said to have been in other cities, including Holyoke and West Springfield, where they were committed in default of bail.

GLOUCESTER HAS $150,000 FIRE

Automobiles, Ready for Show. Burn With Buildings in Threatening Blaze

Glooucester, April 13.—The fire in the three-story brick and wood structure owned and occupied by Perkins & Corlies, threatening the adjoining property to such an extent that the fire department was called to stop it, was not extinguished until 11:30 p. m. when the fire was under control. The property occupied the two square feet of four acres at the junction of Western avenue and Middle street and was to have housed an automobile show beginning today. Many new and second-hand automobiles, besides those already stored in the building, were destroyed or damaged, valued many thousands to the loss. The flames could be seen for miles and lighted up the entire harbor, dotted with craft watching the blazing inferno. The loss will be more than double the value of the property for the past two years. Insurance partially covers the loss.

This is the second heavy loss suffered by the Perkins & Corlies Company. Last week two heavy cars were destroyed by fire. The loss was estimated at $100,000. The fire was caused by a defective wiring, although the local property had been thoroughly repaired a short time ago.

HARRY GREBSIGNED TO BATTLE JIMMY DARCY AT ARENA SHOW

COMMERCIAL CLUB BREAKS INTO THE MAJOR LEAGUES

The Commercial A. C. will break into the big leagues on next Thursday night at the Boston Arena with one of the best light heavyweight fights in the city. Three ten-round bouts with an eight-round appetizer will mark the club's entry into the big league.

The first bout will be one between Jimmy Darcy of California and Harry Greb of Pittsburgh. Greb needs no introduction here as he is looked on as the best light heavyweight in the world. Jimmy Darcy is the midweight and light heavyweight champion of the Pacific coast. He has defeated every man up to the heavyweight weight of the Pay West, also Tom Gibbons, Hastings Orsini, Eddie McQuinn, Billy Jinks, Salter Perreault, Al Norton and several others.

Darcy is managed by Jack Kearns, who also manages the champion of them all, Jack Dempsey, with whom

CHARLES E. PARKER

A BROKEN IDOL

Although not long ago I was the hero of his plots, I'm in with the gang that plays on your corner lots; I've been at me and around his arm—I tried again to bat for yesterday, as I walked past, they shouted out to me to join them in their game of catch, and cheered with glee when, after hesitating some, I answered, "Yes, a while, but as I did, I lost my feet, and sat down in the mud."

No more, now, do they welcome me, or ask me to their game. I'm in on wrong, as wrong can be, and—Gosh! I'm dead lame.

Dempsey in Fine Trim for Bout Right Now

Chicago, April 15.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, passed through Chicago en his way from Seattle to New York, where he will prepare for his fight with Georges Carpentier of France.

Just as soon as he can pick a camp he is going into training for the battle, he said. Judging from his appearance, Dempsey doesn't need a great deal of training.

"I feel wonderful and am in fine shape now and it will not take me long to return to fighting condition. I get excited down to intensive training," he said.

"I am not in the least bit worried over the outcome of my match with Carpentier. The only thing I am worried about is the date and the actual battle ground. This has all been attended to, and after settling a few business details which I hit New York, I won't have anything on my mind but the fight itself."

Hap Could Take Dive in Ring Without Splashing

By "BUGS" BAER.

I take my Waterman in tow to tell you of my man Hap Greb. Hap slugged commutery on the West Shore R. R. The R. R. stands for Rough Riding. He was a tough, patient and only came up for air once a year like a ground hog.

He met Gink in the first round of a 446 verse Queensbury lyric. He met Gink again in the last round. Gink complained to an officer that Hap was following him.

Hap killed Gink like a wheel. Gink is still trying to snore moon-beams, with a butterfly net.

Yale and Penn Tune Up for Races

Derby, Ct., April 15.—Yale and Pennsylvania crews today rowed on the Housatonic in practice for the race Saturday between the first and second variety slights of the rival universities.

The two Pennsylvania slights rowed a mile up stream and back again in short stretches before dinner at the Hotel Clarendon.

The two Yale crews took only conditioning practice, no time work was attempted because of the strenuous time trial over the course last night.
